REPORT

TO

THE HONORABLE WILLIAM MILNE, M.L.C.,

CHIEF SECRETARY,

&c., &c., &c.

Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 15th December, 1870.

Sir—

I have the honor to submit the "Statistical Register of South Australia for 1869," and to present the following Report, for the information of His Excellency the Governor, summarizing the principal facts bearing upon the social and material condition of the Colony, as exhibited by the statistical records of the past year.

POPULATION.

The estimated population on 31st December, 1869, based upon the registration of births and deaths, and the Customs' records of the arrivals and departures by sea, was 181,146, or an addition during the year of 4,848 persons, as compared with an increase of 3,438 persons in the preceding twelvemonths. The male population numbered 93,860, and the female 87,286, shewing an augmentation in the former of 2,513, and of 2,335 in the latter. The natural increase was 4,765 souls—2,369 males, and 2,396 females; or very little above that of 1868, when the excess of births over deaths amounted to 4,731 souls—2,328 males, and 2,403 females. Since the cessation of State assisted immigration, the population has been practically only recruited from natural sources, being for the past year at the rate of 2·7 per cent. only. In 1868, the departures exceeded the arrivals (by sea) by 1,293 persons (972 males and 321 females); this year, the arrivals exceed the departures by 83 persons. The male arrivals exceeded the departures by 144, whilst the number of females leaving the Colony in excess of those arriving, was 61; showing a balance of 83 persons as above stated. The total augmentation of the population was at the rate of 2·75 per cent. upon the number living at the commencement of the year. For several years previously the annual increase has been at the rate of five per cent.

BIRTHS, DEATHS, AND MARRIAGES.

Six thousand nine hundred and seventy-six births were registered in 1869, or 271 less than in the preceding twelvemonths; the birth-rate being 40 per thousand of the population living at the beginning of the year, or 5 per thousand below that existing a few years ago. The male births amounted to 3,652, and the female to 3,324 as against 3,709 and 3,538 respectively.

Fewer deaths occurred in 1869 than in any year since 1863, the rate of mortality being 12·5 per thousand, the lowest recorded with one exception (1865). The total deaths numbered 2,211 (males 1,283, and 927 females), showing a decrease of 305 upon the year 1868, when the death-rate was 14·5 per thousand—that of 1867 having been 17·4 per thousand. The principal decrease appears in deaths resulting from scarlatina, whooping cough, diptheria, and convulsions.

Of the total mortality, fifty-five per cent. were deaths of children under five years of age—numbering 1,195, as compared with 1,474 last year.

Fewer deaths of infants under two years were recorded—the number being reduced from 1,290 to 1,038, or one-fifth.

The natural increase of the population amounted to 4,765 souls, or only 34 more than in the previous year, and being 2·7 per cent. on the number living at the commencement of the year.

Twelve hundred and eleven marriages were celebrated, or 75 less than in 1868, and fewer than in any year since 1863.

PUBLIC

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

From returns supplied by the several religious denominations it appears, that the provision made for public worship continues to increase; twenty-one additional churches and chapels having been added during the year. The total number of places of worship is returned at 765, with accommodation for 118,462 persons, as compared with 754 and 112,878 sittings last year. Of this number 568 were churches or chapels, the remaining 197 being rooms temporarily used for religious services, and which are rapidly being superseded by appropriate edifices. The following particulars afford means of comparing the progress made in this direction during the three past years—

	1867.	1868.	1869.
Number of churches or chapels	511	547	568
“ sittings in ditto	98,496	103,488	110,067
“ rooms used, &c.	186	207	197
“ sittings in ditto	7,245	9,390	8,395
Total number of places of worship	697	754	765
“ sittings provided	105,741	112,878	118,462
Sunday schools	416	446	469
Sunday-school teachers	3,961	4,150	4,572
Sunday scholars	26,506	28,719	30,580

Twenty-three additional Sunday schools have been opened, making 469 in all—with 4,572 teachers (2,267 males, and 2,305 females); and 30,580 Sunday scholars, of whom 15,059 were boys and 15,521 were girls.

EDUCATION.

The Central Board of Education furnish returns of the number of, and attendance at, licensed schools, of which there are 330 under the superintendence of 225 school-masters and 103 schoolmistresses; showing an increase of five schools over the number returned in the previous year. The total number of children on the roll was 16,328—9,031 boys, and 7,297 girls; or an addition of 671 scholars. The average number on the roll of each school was 49·4, as against 48 in 1868. The average number of scholars attending, 13,220, or 1,078 more than in the preceding year; the proportion of children in daily attendance being 80·9 per cent. of the gross number on the roll, being 3·4 greater than in the preceding twelve months. Out of 13,220 scholars, only 1,191 were attending City licensed schools, 1,292 at schools in other municipalities, and the remaining 10,737 in suburban and country districts. The ages of the scholars attending are classified as follows:—under seven years, one-fourth; between seven and ten years one half; and the remaining fourth, eleven years of age and upwards. There are now held in trust for educational purposes, eighty-two schoolhouses, which have been erected under the Board's supervision, and toward which the sum of £15,304 has been granted. Each District Council has now its public school-house.

The amount expended by the Board, in teachers' stipends, was £17,386; and the sum paid in fees by parents, was £14,826; together, £32,212—being 23s. 3d. from the State for each scholar on the rolls, and 18s. 2d., per head, from the parents of the children.

During the past decade, the State has provided £197,697 for educational purposes; the expenditure of the last year being, £25,591—and the average, for the whole period, £19,769 per annum.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Considerable improvement is exhibited in the state of the public finances as compared with the accounts of the previous year, the revenue being increased from £716,004 to £777,351, or by £61,347; whilst the expenditure has decreased from £852,689 to £802,251, or by £50,438. Nearly all the items of revenue show increases upon those of 1868; but the principal augmentation was in the receipts of the railway, and from the Customs—the former amounting to £91,478 as compared with £84,611, and the latter £223,452 against £198,531 in the preceding twelve months. The proceeds of the sales of Crown Lands also increased from £224,490 to £227,271; and the Land Revenue from £77,797 to £91,450. Minor branches of receipt show such augmentations as are indicative of the general progress of the community.

During 1869, the average contribution of each individual towards the support of the Government, in the shape of taxation through the Customs, was 24s. 9d. as compared with 22s. 6d. in 1868, 23s. 3d. in 1867, 27s. 2d. in 1866, and 30s. in the year 1865.

As above stated, the aggregate payments of the year were £50,438 below those of 1868; the reduction, however, would have been greater by £36,042 had not that additional sum been required for the extinction of bonds falling due: the payments on account of the Public Debt amounting to £149,144 as against £113,102 in the previous year. Under all other heads of Service reductions appear, which would, but for the exceptional circumstance above referred to, have brought the expenditure of the year within the amount of the accruing revenue.

During

During the past ten years, the gross public income (exclusive of loans for Public Works) has amounted to £7,202,213—the Ordinary Revenue contributing £4,602,111, of which £1,816,168 represented taxes, and £2,785,943 receipts from general sources; and the Land Fund £2,600,101 sterling.

During the same period, the total Public Expenditure has amounted to £7,329,922, out of which £2,948,350 has been spent on Public Works (exclusive of £1,329,470 defrayed from loans), and £254,711 upon immigration—together £3,203,061, or £602,960 more than the Land Fund produced during those years.

LOANS FOR PUBLIC WORKS.

The Public Debt amounted at the close of 1869 to the sum of £1,783,700. Bonds representing £2,219,400 have been issued since the first loan was contracted, of which sum £435,700 has been redeemed. The total amount authorized by Parliament to be raised is £2,694,500, leaving Bonds of £475,100 value yet to be issued.

BANKING.

Half-yearly returns of the average liabilities and assets of the several banking institutions carrying on business in this Colony have been issued in pursuance of Act of Parliament. The following is a comparative statement of the aggregate assets and liabilities set forth in the returns for the half years ending December, 1867, 1868, and 1869, respectively:—

	LIABILITIES.			1867.			1868.			1869.

Comparing the several items in the above return, steady, if not rapid, progress will be observed, indicating improved confidence. The deposits have increased from £1,272,164 to £1,406,979, and the notes and bills discounted from £2,559,742 to £2,829,722. The aggregate liabilities were £1,696,861, as against £1,569,884, and the aggregate assets have increased from £3,168,413 to £3,478,165 sterling, during the period referred to.

SAVINGS BANK.

The returns from this institution exhibit marked advancement, and show yearly increasing support, both in number of depositors and amount of business. The number of depositors is now 11,407, an increase of 1,748; and 3,485 new accounts were opened as compared with 2,784 in the year preceding. The total amount deposited was £211,826 as against £170,556; and the total sum to the credit of the several depositors, including interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, was £382,284, or £69,556 additional. The amount withdrawn during the year was £161,682, as compared with £147,660 in the previous twelvemonths. The following table shows the rapid advance made during the past five years, and the magnitude of its operations:—

	1865.	1866.	1867.	1868.	1869.
New accounts opened (number)	2,333	2,135	2,321	2,784	3,485

“ total funds	£274,071	£266,700	£294,095	£333,875	£405,286

It will be noted that the total funds of the institution amount to £405,286 in comparison with £274,071 in the year 1865, and that the reserve fund has increased during the same period from £15,378 to £23,002. The amount lent on mortgage of freehold property, at seven per cent. interest, is £233,411, and the sum of £25,000 is invested in Government securities.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

During 1869 the combined import and export trade amounted to the sum of £5,747,805, showing an increase of £689,995 over the returns of the previous year, and being—being—with the exception of the year 1865—the highest amount yet reached. The chief increase was in the import trade, which amounted to £2,754,770 as against £2,238,510, or an addition of £516,250. The aggregate exports amounted to £2,993,035 as compared with £2,819,300, or an increase of £173,735. The balance of trade in favor of the Colony was £238,264. Produce of South Australia was exported to the value of £2,722,438, and imports to the amount of £2,484,174 were retained for home consumption.

The following statement shows the combined import and export trade for each year since 1860, inclusive, the total imports, the imports retained for home consumption, the imports re-exported, the aggregate exports, the value of staple produce exported, and the difference between the latter and the value of imports consumed in the Province.

Trade with the United Kingdom amounted to £2,993,896, as against £2,837,249. Of this amount £1,630,761 represented imports, or an increase of £219,253, and £1,363,135 exports thereto, showing a decrease of £62,606 upon the returns for the previous year. The imports from—exceeded our exports to—the mother country, by £267,625 sterling, as compared with £14,232 in the year preceding.

Inter-colonial business shows a recovery from the depression of the previous year. With Victoria the combined import and export trade amounted to £1,188,513, as compared with £1,027,340, showing an increase of £161,173. The balance of trade was in favor of this Colony by £319,173. The imports from Melbourne amounted to £434,670, as against £334,876, an increase of £99,794; and the exports thereto to £753,843, as against £692,463, or £61,380 additional.

Transactions with New South Wales were also of greater magnitude; the combined trade amounted to £761,972, as against £525,812, or an increase of £236,160. The imports thence advanced from £176,618, to £301,006, or by £124,388, and the exports thereto, from £349,194, to £460,966, or an addition of £111,772 upon the preceding year—the balance of trade in favor of South Australia amounting to £159,959. Of the above imports, wool, &c., of the value of £209,953, came down the Murray for transhipment, as compared with £86,121 in the previous year; goods valued at £81,309 being returned by that route, in place of £70,147, in the preceding twelve months.

Exports to Queensland, principally breadstuffs, increased fifty per cent., reaching £162,565, in lieu of £107,193; those to New Zealand advanced from £24,039, to £62,821.

New Caledonia appears as a purchaser of breadstuffs to the extent of £8,910.

Tasmanian produce was imported to the sum of £26,066, as against £22,556, the year before.

The Western Australian trade has also progressed. The aggregate transactions amounting to £97,212, as compared with £86,184. The imports thence amounted to £44,679 (including £23,000 bullion), as against £46,157 (including £24,508 specie). The exports to £52,533, as against £40,027. Wool of the value of £11,452 was brought here for transhipment, as against £12,448 in 1868.

Shipments to India and the Cape declined. The former only taking £57,821, as against £73,409; and the latter £7,374, as against £31,159, copper and breadstuffs respectively. Imports from China advanced from £67,334, to £89,846; whilst exports to Batavia fell from £4,934 to £1,443.

The Mauritius trade shows a considerable increase; the imports thence amounting to £135,522, as compared with £114,438, and the exports thereto, to £51,354 (including £33,000 specie), as against £63,005, of which £46,000 was bullion.

Swedish timber of the value of £42,460 arrived, as against £31,979, during the previous year; and imports valued at £18,321, from the United States.

Bullion

Bullion and coin to the sum of £91,500 was imported, or £26,992 more than last year. The exports of specie amounted to £33,020, (as against £46,000), showing a balance of £45,500 retained in the Colony. Precious metals, the produce of South Australia, were also shipped as follows:—Gold, 4,029oz., as against 773½oz, values £15,593, and £2,936, respectively. Silver, 3,000oz., value £600, as against 1,140oz. value, £285.

EXPORTS, THE PRODUCE OF THE COLONY.

In continuation of similar returns previously supplied, I append the following statements, illustrating the progress made in the principal branches of industry during the past decade. The first table subjoined gives the total value of the Colonial produce exported, and of the three principal staples, in the years 1860, 1864, and 1869, respectively, the commencement, middle, and termination of the first decade; also the aggregate value of such exports during the quinquennial periods ending 1864 and 1869; together with the average annual shipments in the same periods, and the proportion which the shipments of agricultural, pastoral, and mineral products respectively bore to the total shipments:—

From the above it will be seen that the total exports of produce during the past ten years has reached little short of twenty-four millions sterling; and that whilst in the first half of that period the exports averaged two millions, during the latter half the average shipments exceeded two and a-half millions sterling per annum.

The following statement shows as closely as possible the relative value of wheat, wool, and copper, as compared with the total exports of produce:—

1868	36·2	35·2	25·6	3·0
1869	32·7	37·7	25·7	3·9

Taking the average of the five years terminating with 1864, the value of breadstuffs formed 38·8, wool 31·8, copper 25·7, and miscellaneous articles 3·7 per cent. of the total exports. Taking the like average for the similar period ending in 1869, we find breadstuffs contributed 32·7, wool 37·7, copper 25·7, and miscellaneous articles 3·9 per cent. of the gross produce.

BREADSTUFFS, GRAIN, &c.

Although the average yield of the harvest 1868-9, was only 9 bushels 40lbs. to the acre, or one-fourth below the usual average of twelve bushels, we were enabled to ship 73,325 tons of breadstuffs during the course of the year. Owing to the failure of the harvest of the previous season from red rust, only 33,520 tons were exported in 1868. During 1867, we had shipped ninety-seven thousand tons.

The

The following table shows the results of the harvests in each of the past five years, and the quantity and value of breadstuffs exported :—

The principal customers for wheat and flour were New South Wales and Queensland, the former taking 11,917 tons flour and 87,258qrs. of wheat; the latter Colony purchasing 11,982 tons flour, or twice the quantity of the previous year. To Great Britain, 2,023 tons of flour and 30,845qrs. of wheat were shipped, and 6,645 tons flour and 55,961 tons wheat to Victoria. New Caledonia appears for the first time as a customer, namely for 740 tons flour, New Zealand took 2,159 tons flour, and Western Australia 1,192 tons, both being considerably in advance of the previous season's shipments.

The following gives the export of breadstuffs in 1860, 1864, and 1869; also the total exports for the quinquennial periods ending 1864 and 1869, and the average yearly shipments during those periods :—

During the five years ended 1864 our average annual export of breadstuffs was 52,510 tons; during the last five years it reached 60,696 tons. This increase being incommensurate with the additional area cultivated it is necessary to point out that the last five harvests have been unusually unfavorable, only averaging $9\frac{2}{3}$ bushels to the acre against an average of twelve bushels during the preceding quinquennial period, comprising a cycle of good seasons.

WOOL.

Eighty-seven thousand bales of wool were shipped in 1869; the total quantity exported being 30,532,812lbs, as compared with 29,629,525lbs, in 86,913 bales, during the previous year. Of the above, 9,293 bales, weighing 3,510,141lbs, constituted the quantity of wool transhipped as against 2284 bales, 730,335lbs., the produce of the neighboring Colonies, passed through our ports during the preceding twelve months.

The subjoined statement gives the quantity shipped from each port during the past three years, together with the declared value, distinguishing South Australian wool from that of other Colonies.

Of the total shipments, 71,733 bales left our ports direct for London, 14,988 bales were forwarded to Melbourne for transhipment, and 429 bales were shipped to the United States. In the preceding year 71,056 bales went direct home, and 15,857 by way of Melbourne.

With a view of estimating more accurately the yearly progress of our wool trade, it is necessary to compare the shipments made from July to June in each year, as the wool season being at its busiest at the termination of the year it is often a matter of chance in which year the shipments are returned; to correct this error the following table, showing the shipments of each clip during the past five years, has been prepared, and exhibits very clearly the rapid development in the production of the staple during that period:—

Satisfactory as are the above figures, as showing the growth of the pastoral interest of late years, it will be useful to glance at its position ten years ago, and note the remarkable increase in production since 1860.

The following table gives the quantity and value of South Australian wool shipped in 1860, 1864, and 1869; also during the quinquennial periods terminating in the years 1864 and 1869, and the average annual shipments of those periods:—

Period.	Quantity.	Value.
	lbs.	£
In the year 1860	11,731,371	573,368
“ 1864	16,092,095	775,656

“ 1865-69	22,256,294	1,009,027

It will be observed that in 1860 the export of this staple amounted to 11,731,371lbs., that in 1864 it had increased to 16,092,095lbs., and in 1869 to 27,022,671lbs., showing additions during the intervening periods of forty-four per cent. and seventy per cent. respectively. During the ten years the increase in production has been one hundred and forty per cent. No local industry has been so permanently progressive as wool growing, and when it is considered that the wool alone has, during the past ten years, realized as much money as the whole of our shipments of wheat and flour, during the same period, its importance as a source of wealth cannot be too highly esteemed.

MINERALS.

During the past ten years the total value of mineral produce exported amounted to over six millions sterling. In the first half of the decade the mineral exports amounted to £2,680,345, showing an average of £536,069, whilst during the ^{LATTER} half the aggregate shipments reached £3,449,200, or an annual average of £689,840 sterling. The latter figures would have been greater but for the continued depression in the copper market. Subjoined are the quantities and values of ores and metals exported during the latter period:

The decreased proportion of fine copper produced in comparison with shipments of ore observable during the last two years, is owing to the establishment of branch smelting works at Newcastle, New South Wales, in connexion with those at Wallaroo, return freights for coal-laden vessels being thus secured. The imports of coal amounted to 62,022 tons as against 67,109 tons in 1868. The following statement more truly shows the progress of mining industry during the past ten years, by returning the quantity of produce raised and shipped:—

Period.	Copper.	Lead.	Copper Ore.	Lead Ore.

“ 1865-69	116,669	2,162	18,398	209

It will be found that during the quinquennial period ending 1864, the quantity of fine copper exported was 442,442cwts., and of copper ore 31,018 tons, giving a yearly average of 88,488cwts. of copper, and of 6,204 tons of ore. In the following five years the shipments of fine copper had risen to 583,346cwts., or 116,669cwts. yearly, and of ore to 91,990 tons, or 18,398 tons annually.

LAND CULTIVATION AND LIVE STOCK.

The following extracts from my report on the Agricultural and Live Stock Statistics for the season ended 31st March last, supply full information on these subjects to the latest date:—

“During 1869 the area of land alienated from the Crown amounted to 182,291 acres, making the aggregate area in possession of freeholders to be 3,952,188 acres. In addition to the above, 40,759 acres were sold to the public on credit, under the provisions of the new Act. The total area of land alienated is, therefore, 3,992,947 acres, showing twenty-two acres for each individual of the population. Ten years ago the proportion was seventeen and three-quarter acres, or four and a-quarter acres per head less. About two-thirds of the alienated land is in the occupation of the holders of the fee-simple.

“Following upon two successive seasons so disastrous as those of the red rust and drought, it is remarkable to find that, instead of land going out of cultivation, there is, on the contrary, a large increase in the extent under tillage. The area cultivated is returned as 850,576 acres as against 808,234 acres, or an increase of 42,342 acres over the preceding season—amounting to more than five per cent. One in five acres, or the same proportion as in the previous year, was the ratio of cultivated to purchased land. Last year four and three-quarter acres of land were under tillage for each individual of the population, or fourteen acres for each male of fourteen years of age and upwards; the like proportion has been maintained during the past season.

“The enclosure of pastoral land progresses rapidly, the total area being 6,706,340 acres, whilst in 1868 there were only 5,641,472 acres enclosed—showing an additional 1,064,868 acres during the year. Deducting the cultivated land, 850,576 acres, from the total enclosed, shows 5,855,764 acres of fenced pasturage.

“Apprehension of the result of the protracted drought on the grain crops having induced farmers to cut large areas of wheat for hay, notwithstanding the known deficiency in the quantity of straw, a small decrease of 900 acres appears in the acreage of wheat—the aggregate reaped being 532,135 acres. Sixty-three out of every hundred acres under cultivation were under wheat. Throughout the history of the Colony on one occasion only—the year of red rust—has the harvest yielded so low an average. The quantity reaped was only 5 bushels 45lbs. per acre, or but one bushel 15lbs. more than that of the red rust harvest. The yield of 1868-9 was 9 bushels and 42lbs., or 3 bushels 57lbs. more than this season. Severe and unprecedented drought—the total rainfall of the year 1869 having reached only 14·7 inches, or 7·5 inches below the average—is sufficient explanation of the failure of the crop. The annexed statement shows shows the total area of land under cultivation, the acreage under wheat, the gross produce of the harvest, and the average yield per acre for each season since 1858-9 —

Season.	Acres cultivated.	Acres under wheat.	Produce, Wheat.	Average per Acre
			Bushels.	Bush. lbs.

1863-4	555,968	335,758	4,691,919	14 0
1864-5	587,775	390,836	4,252,949	11 0
1865-6	660,569	410,608	3,587,800	8 44
1866-7	739,714	457,628	6,561,451	14 20
1867-8	810,734	550,456	2,579,894	4 40
1868-9	808,234	533,035	5,173,970	9 42
1869-70	850,576	532,135	3,052,320	5 45

"From the above table it will be gathered that three bad harvests have followed in succession—the yields of wheat being respectively $4\frac{2}{3}$, $9\frac{2}{3}$, and $5\frac{2}{3}$ bushels, showing an average for the three seasons of $6\frac{2}{3}$ bushels only, manifestly insufficient to remunerate the grower, being only one-half of the ordinary production. The extent of the depression prevailing among all classes, and especially amongst agriculturists and landed proprietors, can be realized when it is considered that the actual money lost to the country by the failure of the three past harvests may be reasonably computed at two millions sterling.

"Although, as previously stated, a large quantity of wheat was cut for hay, the aggregate crop was greatly deficient, owing to the severity of the drought. The total area of hay mown in 1869 was 141,899 acres or 35,255 acres increase upon the previous season. Notwithstanding, the total yield was only 108,107 tons, as against 113,167 tons, showing an average of only fifteen hundredweight, as compared with twenty-one hundredweight in 1868. The last crop was fifty thousand tons below the ordinary rate of consumption; and the high prices for fodder, ruling in consequence, must have borne heavily upon keepers of stock.

"Barley was grown to nearly the same extent as last season, when an increase of fifty per cent. was recorded; the yield, however, in common with other crops, being greatly deficient. The area sown was 20,114 acres—or 1,130 acres less; and the total produce amounted to only 180,807 bushels—or a decrease of 130,335 bushels; the average yield being only eight bushels forty-nine pounds, as compared with fourteen bushels thirty-two pounds in the previous year.

"Oats shows a slight increase in acreage, being 4,438 against 4,210 acres, and an additional yield of 6,564 bushels; the total produce being 65,777 bushels, compared with 59,213 bushels. This description of grain is grown to any extent only in the south-east, and consequently suffered but little from want of moisture.

"Fewer peas were grown, 3,852 acres being under crop, producing 41,543 bushels, compared with 4,385 acres in 1868 yielding 49,279 bushels. The average per acre was nearly alike in both seasons—about eleven bushels.

"Potatoes alone show a favorable result, this crop having yielded fifty per cent. more than in 1868, with a slight increase in the area planted. This season 2,856 acres were dug, producing 9,293 tons, or an average of sixty-five hundredweight to the acre, as compared with 2,684 acres, yielding at the rate of forty-seven hundredweight to the acre, or 6,335 tons. Last year's crop, therefore, shows an increase of 172 acres, and of 2,958 tons. The local supply continues barely to meet one-half of our requirements.

"Garden and orchard ground covers 5,453 acres, as against 5,296 acres, being exclusive of small allotments. Lucerne, artificial grasses, &c., show an increase of 590 acres, the area given being 5,344 acres as against 4,754 acres the year before. Under the heading 'other crops,' 1,028 acres are returned, or 615 acres more than last season.

"Vineyards show a decrease of 240 acres, the area planted being stated to be 5,823 acres; the number of vines returned also shows a falling off, both in those bearing and not in bearing. The vines in bearing have decreased by 155,223, or from 5,853,427 to 5,698,204, and the yet unproductive vines from 513,088 to 351,139, or by 161,949. Notwithstanding these deficiencies the produce of the vintage of 1868-9, to which the returns apply, was considerably larger than its predecessor, the quantity of wine made being 895,795 gallons, or 83,677 gallons additional. For several years the production has reached between eight and nine hundred thousand gallons, or five gallons per head of the population. One hundred and fifty gallons was the average yield to the acre.

"Fallow land is returned at 126,922 acres, showing an increase of 8,518 acres upon the previous season.

"The returns of live stock are of an unfavorable character, especially as regards sheep, which class of stock, for the two preceding years, had shown considerable increases in number. Losses from drought, the large number boiled down, and failure in the natural increase, have all tended to this result. The total number of sheep, including lambs, depasturing in 1870, is returned as 4,436,955 as compared with 4,987,024 the year before, or 550,069 deficient. The number of cattle is given as 119,697, or 3,516 fewer than in 1869; and the number of horses 73,828, or a decrease of 1,581 head, exclusive of stock in towns. The number of live stock can always be more accurately ascertained simultaneously with the census, which it is proposed to take next year."

SHIPPING.

During the year 1869, the total number of vessels entering the ports of this Province was 564 of 167,991 aggregate tonnage. In the previous year, owing to the failure of the harvest, only 446 vessels entered, of 136,051 tons total capacity. Fifty-five ships arrived from the United Kingdom, of 33,638 total tonnage. Intercolonial trade rallied; 226 vessels, as compared with 161, arriving from Victoria; and 143 from New South Wales, in lieu of 135. Fifty vessels arrived from Tasmania, in place of forty-two. The increase in number of ships inward, from all countries, was 118, and in capacity 31,941 tons. The following statement shows the number and tonnage of vessels entered inwards from each country during the past three years:—

With the exception of fifty-four intercolonial traders, all the above shipping entered with cargoes. The total number of seamen was 7,486, or 1,014 more than last year. Besides the foregoing, sixty-five Murray River steamers, of 6,370 tons, and with crews numbering 364 men, entered at river ports with cargoes. During the preceding season, fifty-seven steamers, of 4,272 total tonnage, entered inwards in the same trade.

The total number of vessels cleared outwards was 548, of 163,516 tons—an increase of ninety-one ships and 21,695 tonnage upon the previous year, when 457 vessels, of 141,821 total capacity, departed from South Australian ports.

The subjoined return shows the number of vessels entered outwards and departing to each country during the past three years:—

All the above vessels, excepting forty-two, left with cargoes; and of those in ballast thirty-one were intercolonial traders. Only twenty-eight out of the 548 vessels employed were other than belonging to British owners.

The total number of ships sailing for England was fifty-one, of 633 average tonnage, as against thirty-seven, averaging 670 tons, the year before. 139 vessels are registered as belonging to Port Adelaide—an addition of thirteen during the year.

RAILWAYS.

The traffic returns for 1869, show an improvement on those of the previous twelve-months. The total receipts amounted to £90,626, as against £82,980, or an increase of £7,646. The number of passengers travelling increased from 373,261 to 390,637, and goods carried from 108,018 tons to 159,699 tons—showing an addition of 17,376 passengers, and 51,681 tons of goods. The following statement gives the receipts and expenditure detailed during the past three years:—

	1867.	1868.	1869.	1867.	1868.	1869.
GROSS RECEIPTS—
Number of passengers	444,089	373,261	390,637

Goods receipts				88,577	51,071	56,924
Other receipts				2,892	2,997	3,106
Total receipts				£125,583	£82,980	£90,626
GROSS EXPENDITURE—				£	£	£
Management				2,050	1,782	2,145
Locomotive department				19,542	17,129	16,688
Maintenance of line				31,118	32,271	30,588
Other working expenses (including goods agency)				66,615	45,100	44,820
Total expenditure				£119,325	£96,283	£94,241

Notwithstanding diminished expenditure, £94,241 as against £96,283, and a largely increased traffic, the working expenses exceeded the receipts by £3,615, as compared with £13,303 (owing to failure of the harvest) last season. The loss this year it must be borne in mind, is attributable to the great reduction in the scale of charges on goods, which was reduced one-half, or from 7·72d. to 4·04d. per ton per mile on the Port Line, and from 4·83d. to 2·49d. per ton per mile on the North Line. In any estimate of the return for the large expenditure of capital upon railway construction, cheapness of transport must be set off against the loss accruing to the General Revenue.

MAIN ROADS.

During 1869, twenty-three miles of newly-macadamized road were constructed by the Central Board of Main Roads, making a total length of main lines completed to be 597 miles, of which 422 have been formed during the last ten years. In 1868, seventy-eight miles were formed and metalled.

The Board expended in the construction and maintenance of lines £62,364, or £66,878 less than last year. The sum defrayed during the ten years under the Board's supervision was £955,490, being irrespective of a nearly similar amount disbursed by Local Road Boards, Municipalities, and District Councils, on means of intercommunication from funds provided by local rating, or grants from the Treasury.

POSTAL COMMUNICATION.

The Post Office returns show a fair increase in the business of that department, but the largely-increased expenditure is not met by any adequate augmentation of revenue. The loss on this service, which up to 1866 had been a self-supporting one, was, in 1868, owing to very extended services, no less than £11,887. During the last year this deficiency was reduced to £9,894, the receipts having increased from £28,243 to £29,850, and the expenditure lessened, being £39,744 as against £40,130.

Subjoined is a statement of the number of letters and newspapers carried, and of the income and expenditure of the department:—

	1867.	1868.	1869.
Number of letters	2,804,418	2,850,926	3,052,757
Number of newspapers	1,924,760	2,086,799	2,086,777
Distance travelled by mails	1,075,538	1,093,628	1,136,484
Income	28,495	28,243	29,850
Expenditure	37,753	40,130	39,744

The number of letters carried has increased from 2,850,926 to 3,052,757; whilst the newspapers remained stationary, being 2,086,777. The distance travelled by mails was 1,136,484, as against 1,093,628, and the length of mail routes, 4,448, as compared with 4,326 miles. 359 persons were employed, or sixteen more than last year; the total number of Post Offices open being two hundred and seventy.

TELEGRAPHS.

TELEGRAPHS.

An additional telegraph station was opened during 1869, making the total number, sixty-six. The length of line erected is 1,113 miles, and of wire, 1,642 miles. The aggregate number of messages transmitted was 122,299, or 11,899 more than in the previous year. The receipts of the department amounted to £10,722 as compared with £11,223, or £501 less—this reduction being the result of the greatly diminished but uniform scale of charges throughout the Colony introduced during the year.

CONCLUSION.

The Statistical Abstract of the Province of South Australia, the last table of the series, shows very clearly as well the periods of vicissitude as the rapid progress in the development of its resources which has characterized it since its foundation as a British Colony.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient humble servant,
J. BOOTHBY,
Under Secretary and Government Statist.

* Grant for 1860—61, was only £500.

† A considerable number of worn out or otherwise useless books were weeded out during these two years. For 1865 and subsequent years, the number of books stated, is that contained in the Library at the time of the annual examination which takes place in the first week of May, in each year.

‡ For this and following years the average number of subscribers is ascertained from the actual amount of subscriptions received, instead of being estimated, as formerly; there is, therefore, a considerable apparent falling off, chiefly due to the above mentioned cause.

* For six months, to 30th June, 1865.

† For six months to 31st December, 1863. ‡ Five new Institutes, no return received. || Three new Institutes, no return received.

§ Several of these have been formed or revived within the year; there were also three Institutes from which no returns have been received, and four new ones recently affiliated, or seeking to be so.

¶ Three of these have been formed within the year. There are also three of the existing Institutes from which returns have not yet been received, and three new ones which have been established since July 1, 1863, as well as two which are at present dormant, or nearly so. In addition to the above there are two Institutes not at present affiliated to the South Australian Institute; making the total number in the Province thirty-seven, of which, thirty-five are in active operation.

 In addition to the above, seven Institutes have been affiliated to the South Australian Institute during 1864, for which returns cannot at present be given; one is making application to be affiliated, and two are believed to be in existence, although not now connected with the South Australian Institute, making a total number of forty-three in operation in the Province. There are also several others in a dormant state, of which it is not necessary to take account.

†† In addition to the above, one Institute has been affiliated to the South Australian Institute during the year, for which returns cannot be given; one is seeking to be affiliated, and two others are believed to be in existence, though not connected with the South Australian Institute, making a total of forty-three at present in existence.

‡‡ In addition to the above, two Institutes have been affiliated to the South Australian Institute during the year, for which returns cannot be given, and three others are believed to be in existence, making a total of forty-three. The return of annual income is necessarily larger this year, on account of the Fancy Fair held by the Gawler Institute, in aid of its building fund.

||| In addition to the above, five new Institutes have been affiliated to the South Australian Institute since July 1st, 1867, for which no returns could be given; one Institute included above has temporarily suspended operations since July 1st, 1867, and there is believed to be one Institute not in connection with the South Australian Institute—making a total of forty-eight Institutes in operation in the Province.

¶¶ Four new Institutes have been affiliated to the South Australian Institute since July 1st, 1868, making a total at the present time of forty-nine.

 Five Institutes have been affiliated to the South Australian Institute since July 1, 1869, and one has become extinct, making a total at the present time of fifty-two.

††† This item is specially larger on account of considerable amounts having been raised by several Institutes for building purposes to meet special votes.

MEMORANDA.—The barometer was made by Negretti & Zambra; the internal diameter of the tube is 0.5 inch, and by careful comparison with the standard at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, it appears to have no index error; the correction for capillarity, +0.003 inch, has been applied throughout, and all the readings have been reduced to a normal temperature of 32° Fahrenheit. The height of the cistern above the mean level of the sea is about 140 feet. The thermometers used were made by Negretti & Zambra, and were carefully compared with the Greenwich standards—the index errors being, in each case, very small, have not been applied. They comprise two maximum mercurial thermometers, dry and wet, of Negretti & Zambra's construction; two spirit minimum thermometers; a dry bulb mercurial thermometer, and a wet bulb ditto (mounted on a Greenwich stand, between five and six feet from the ground); a solar thermometer, enclosed in an exhausted glass tube with a large bulb, in the centre of which is the blackened bulb of the thermometer, the thermometer being held in a nearly horizontal position by two light brackets, screwed on to a stout wooden standard, about five feet above the surface of the ground, and is at no time shaded by surrounding objects; and two spirit minimum thermometers, one for grass, and one for wool. The hygrometric results have been calculated by Glaisher's tables, second edition. The rain gauge is placed on a clear space of ground, and was generally read off at 9h. a.m.
